

BLOXHUB Event:

Join the dialogue and influence the future of German Cities

BLOXHUB is expanding its collaborations across Europe, with Germany at the heart of this effort. To orchestrate collaboration initiatives and engage the ecosystem on the journey, BLOXHUB will serve as a European hub where innovation, knowledge, and collaboration converge to strengthen Europe's urban resilience and competitiveness.

BLOXHUB will showcase initiatives, ambitions, and projects in Germany, inviting leading urban institutions to share experience and knowledge in the German market. Actors who engage on the journey can leverage their expertise, explore trends and opportunities, connect with peers, and contribute to shaping resilient and livable cities.

Why Germany?

German cities are increasingly looking to Nordic approaches for sustainable mobility, livable urban spaces, housing models, and green transitions, creating prime opportunities for Danish companies to share expertise and build cross-border partnerships. Furthermore, Germany invests heavily in green urban development, and we see a great potential in both the cultural and the geographic proximity.

Join us for the event to:

- Strengthen networks and partnerships across Germany and the Nordic region for strategic collaboration.
- Hear how BLOXHUB brings the ecosystem to Germany and how to get involved.
- Meet other organizations with a similar market interest.
- Scale insights and solutions for broader impact on resilience, sustainability, and livability across German urban areas
